

Basic Gobi short trip

Day 1: In the morning, catch your flight for the Gobi, this arid semi-desert land with sparse vegetation, where gazelles roam and eagles in the sky. Upon arrival, you'll be met by Boojum driver/vehicle. Drive south towards the Yolyn Am canyon. Famed for its rich bird habitat, originally established as a bird preserve. Explore the area on foot. Drive to ger camp which is located near by the Flaming Cliffs. Overnight in gers.

Day 2: Continue your Gobi exploration with Bayan Zag. Renowned as "The Flaming Cliffs" by American explorers for its dramatic shapes and colors (especially at sunset). Presenting the first dinosaur eggs ever to be found in the history of world paleontology, It is still offers numerous fossils yet to be found. Packed lunch at the site. Return via Moltsoq Els (sand dunes), visit to camel breeders camp. Overnight in gers.

Day 3: Fly back to Ulaanbaatar /UB/.

The Bactrian Camel: Icon of the Gobi

While the global population of two-humped camels exists mainly in domesticated form, Mongolia is home to two-thirds of the world's Bactrian camels. These remarkable animals are perfectly adapted to the Gobi's arid climate, where temperatures fluctuate drastically between 48°C and -35°C.

Survival in the Steppe:

- Hydration: To combat scarce water sources, a camel can easily drink 135 liters of water in a single session and survive up to a month without drinking again.
- Resilience: They thrive despite sparse vegetation and a landscape that challenges the survival of both wild and domestic herds.
- Cultural Heritage: Mongolian nomads continue to rely on camels as essential pack animals for seasonal migrations.
- Local Delicacy: In the arid regions of rural Mongolia, nutritious camel milk remains a prized local delicacy

What's Included: Meals (lunch on the first day through breakfast on the last day), English speaking guide, ger accommodations, vehicle/driver and park/entry fees.
